Will Rogers' True Life Story Told

by Homer Croy

OUR WILL ROGERS, by Homer Croy; New York: Duell, Sloan & Pearce -- Boston: Little Brown; $3.75.

I've read several "lives of Will Rogers" and so have you, but this is an authentic report by a writer who does his own researching and comes up with a dependable biography. You can put Homer Croy's "Our Will Rogers" on your bookshelf confident that this is the true story of a very great American many of us met personally and all of us loved immensely.

There are thousands of fragments of Will Rogers in the history of his countrymen, and you may wonder why, with so much information already digested, it is advisable to read a whole book about him. But the difference between a book and the mere anecdotes which the public has heard about the Oklahoma man is that vital difference between fact and rumor.

As a newspaper editor I thought I knew a great deal about Will Rogers; but I didn't have a true picture of the man until I read Croy's book, complete as usual with a list of all his source material — including personal travel up and down the Oklahoma country of Will's boyhood.

Americans met Will Rogers in a thousand places. The place where I met him was Smackover, your editor then belonging to the El Dorado Daily News and serving as one of a delegation of El Doradoans escorting him down from Smackover to speak in the El Dorado High School auditorium. The year was 1927, and Will was on one of his most memorable tours — lecturing for the benefit of the flood sufferers throughout the South, his donation to that cause being enormous in free time from the nation's highest-paid performer.

Homer Croy met Will in quite a different way. Will, after much success on the New York stage, had tried the silent movies — and flopped. So he went on the lecture stage and in radio, where he could talk — and the money promptly flowed in. After a while the motion pictures also learned to talk, and they wanted Will Rogers for another try at the box-office. The story selected was Homer Croy's "They Had to See Paris." So Croy and Rogers got together for the first time in the conference that started Will on his movie comeback — for that picture was a great success.

Here are some facts about Will Rogers, taken from Croy's new book:

1. Will was nine thirty-seconds Cherokee; that is, slightly more than one-quarter Indian. And his folks were prominent and prosperous.

2. He died not only world-famous but a millionaire. When his estate was counted up after the fatal airplane crash in Alaska with Wiley Post it came to $2,300,000. Croy reports: "A rather unusual thing about this estate was the money was invested. Will had never owned stocks or bonds. He always said he didn't want to buy something he didn't understand; but there were two things he did understand — life insurance and real estate."

3. What was Will Rogers' greatest saying? There's no question about that. It was: "I never met a man I didn't like." Homer Croy says it first appeared in the Boston Globe June 16, 1930, page 12, column 7 — and was "the shot heard around the world," for the Associated Press spread it everywhere. Will Rogers said it in Fremont Temple Baptist church in Boston when the minister, an old friend, asked him to speak a few words. Will spoke about epitaphs. This is what he said:

"I've got my epitaph all worked out. When I'm tucked away in the old graveyard west of Oologah, I hope they will cut this epitaph — or whatever you call them signs they put over graves — on it:

"Here lies Will Rogers. He joked about every prominent man in his time, but he never met a man he didn't like."

Rephan's Observing 36th Anniversary This Week

Rephan's Department Store here is observing its 36th anniversary this week.

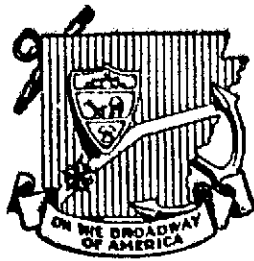

Founded 36 years ago by Ed I. Rephan, the store remains under its original ownership but the organization has expanded to include stores at Prescott, Malvern, DeQueen, Mena and Hot Springs.

Since it was founded the store has had only three managers. Starting as an extra helper back in 1911, Fred Robertson took over as manager in 1950 in which capacity he has served ever since.

As customary the store is holding its annual anniversary sale and invites friends and customers to visit with the personnel which includes: Mr. Robertson, Mrs. Mildred Dickinson, Mrs. Miri Richards, Mrs. Olin Powell, James H. Bristow, Mrs. Howard Wright, Mrs. B. M. Hazzard and Mrs. Francis Stevenson and Joe Rider.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines, which had been testing respirators, did the first work on gas masks for the army in World War I.

Middle Age Good Time to Get a Check on Your Ambitions, Discard the Unhappy Ones

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is the best time to check up on your ambitions.

Your goal no longer then should be to step up the tempo or living to achieve the unrealized ambitions of your youth, but to discard and throw away those you no longer need to make you happy.

An ambition that may be a helpful spur to you at 20 may to you just be an unnecessary hotfoot.

Why moan because you have been able to climb only half way up the ladder of success? A goal gained is generally more real pleasure than a goal won. You have some progress behind you, and you should look forward to it.

But the guy who has reached the top of the ladder in middle age can't pause to admire the view, as you can. Today many people are clawing at his legs, trying to pull him from it. And if you have a comfortable niche on the ladder, the sensible ambition to have is to keep your hold and not be hit and knocked loose by the guy at the top when he is struck by lightning and falls off.

Ambition rarely is given to anybody in just the right quantity and quality. If you have too little you are a bum in the world's eyes. If you have too much, you may turn out to be another Napoleon or Hitler. The wrong kind of ambition has killed more people than the black plague.

Just as a man changes the kind of motor oil in his automobile at the advent of bitter weather, so should he begin to winterize his way of life in early middle age. If he tries at two and forty to live by the same ambitions he had at two and twenty he is bound to get a knock in his motor.

In boyhood a fellow may decide to become a doctor. In middle age he may decide to become a lawyer. In old age he may decide to become a philosopher. — Continued on Page Three

Churchill Is Nobel Prize Winner

STOCKHOLM. — Sir Winston Churchill today won the Nobel Prize in literature. He was cited "for his mastery of historical and biographical writing and for the brilliant art of oratory with which he has stepped forth as a defender of high human values."

The Nobel prize, a sort of world championship, carries with it a prize of $33,840. It was announced by the Swedish Academy.

The British Prime Minister, 78, has been writing for 55 years. He has 27 books to his credit, and is still working on his memories of World War II.

The award is for 1953, but it takes into consideration his works of the last half century.

The decision was clearly the most unusual ever, taken by the academy, which has been distributing the literary Nobel prizes, which are distributed by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian Parliament, like the British Premier's first statesman ever to receive the literary prize.

Churchill was chosen winner from a field of 25 candidates, including American writers Ernest Hemingway and Carl Sandburg, British novelist Graham Greene, Italian Alberto Moravia and France's Albert Camus.

Scientist Tells of Leak in Secret Data

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today a German radar scientist who fled a Russian laboratory gave American officials reports of top secret documents stolen from Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and used by Communists.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, said the scientist will be called as a witness by the committee.

McCarthy told newsmen that the scientist, whom he did not identify, worked in the Russian-controlled Paron laboratory in East Germany and fled to Western Germany more than a year ago.

The scientist gave American Air Force intelligence officers a "detailed story" of the use of Communists were making of the documents, McCarthy said.

He said the scientist still was in West Germany and that the subcommittee would request Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens to assist in having him brought to the United States "as quickly as possible."

UN Debate Overshadowed by Talks

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The diplomatic battle to keep a shooting war away from Trieste shifted to U.N. headquarters today, but Security Council debate on the explosive issue was overshadowed by the impending London talks on the question.

With their foreign ministers meeting in the British capital tomorrow and Saturday, British and American delegates here sat tight and waited to see what tack Russia's Andrei Vishinsky would take before the council this afternoon.

Vishinsky's proposal—that the council again try to set up an international administration over both zones of Trieste and give the whole area independence three months later—so far had met with a cold reception from Yugoslavia and Italy, the two claimants to the area.

'Proud' Says Ike of Women in U. S. Affairs

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower Saturday officially opened National Business Women's Week with the observation: "The entire nation observes with pride the great contributions women are making to our nation in the field of public affairs."

In a letter to Miss Helen G. Iselin, of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., which is sponsoring the observance, the President wrote:

"Women long ago proved their competence in matters which were once the exclusive concern of men, and men long ago accepted the logic of profiting from the special skills and aptitudes of women. This administration, for example, is happy and proud to depend in the fields of health, education and welfare, on the judgment, ability and experience of Oveta Culp Hobby."

"The educational activities of your group are of particular interest to all of us and I especially commend your program to rouse the dormant votes."

"I am delighted that the women of America are taking an increasingly active part in our political life, and your project is an important contribution toward furthering that participation."

Benson Favors Federal-State Hay Program

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson held out hope today for a federal-state cooperative hay buying program to help the nation's hard pressed drought areas.

He told a news conference that would be his objective at a conference here later today with the governors of 12 drought states. The aim, he said, would be to set up a cooperative program on hay, with the federal government paying "a substantial part" of the cost of transporting hay from surplus to drought states.

Benson said he favored a matching program, with states participating, and thought he reflected President Eisenhower's views on that.

"We want to do everything that's feasible — everything we can do," Benson said.

KANSAS CITY. — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the long-term prospects for agriculture are bright despite the current drop in farm prices and become. And, in remarks prepared for the Future Farmers of America, he said government farm programs Continued on Page Three

Mrs. Heady Is Likely to Plead Insanity

By JAMES B. GALLOWAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS) — A possible plea of temporary insanity by one of the kidnappers of little Bobby Greensease was foreseen today as a defense attorney mapped plans to save the life of Mrs. Bonnie Heady, the confessed abductor.

Speculation that an insanity plea might be entered when the case comes up under the federal Lindbergh "death penalty" law arose after Attorney William Rosenthal conferred with Mrs. Heady yesterday.

The lawyer-client conference was held in the Kansas City jail where the 41-year-old alcoholic and her co-conspirator, Carl Austin Hall, 34, have been questioned in relays by FBI agents.

The G-men were trying to fill in the gaps in the confessions of the pair and obtain some clue to their whereabouts of the missing half of a record $600,000 ransom collected from the parents of six-year-old Bobby.

There was a report, unconfirmed by the FBI, that Hall and Mrs. Heady were being questioned with the aid of a lie detector and that the needle jumped when the woman was asked about the missing $300,000.

Meanwhile, Jackson County Prosecutor Richard K. Phelps blasted Missouri's parole system under which Hall was freed last April after serving 18 months of a five-year sentence for armed robbery.

Phelps said he was preparing recommendations to the state Senate committee for a complete change in the criminal code dealing with paroles.

'Save-the-Peace' Talks May Ease Trieste Tension

By NATE POLOWETZKY

LONDON (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles flew to London today for "save the peace" talks with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault. The explosive Trieste situation gave the conference new urgency.

The talks were scheduled to open tomorrow and run through Saturday. Trieste undoubtedly was the top item for discussion, but the three ministers had a listful of other topics.

Prime Minister Churchill arranged to dine with Dulles tonight and meet Bidault separately. The British veteran was expected to press on both his pet project for a top-level, informal conference of himself, President Eisenhower, French Premier Joseph Laniel and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

As he left Washington last night, Dulles in a statement expressed from the London talks would "make some progress" toward easing world tensions.

The three nations' "unwavering objective" he said, is "to seek out, with all of our allies, the basis for a lasting peace."

Although both the British Foreign Office and the State Department claimed the get-together had been in the making for some time, it was given a war-or-peace urgency by Yugoslav President Tito's threats to use force to forestall the announced British-American plan to turn over Trieste's Zone A to Italy.

Governors to Seek Aid for 12 States

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Governors of 12 drought-hit states planned today to draft recommendations for federal aid in combating the drought and helping to soften the blow of future ones.

The conference, opening with a luncheon, was called by Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, chairman of the National Governors Conference. Thornton said Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson would take part. He said Peterson would participate because it is his duty to distribute federal funds allocated to meet natural disasters.

The governors will present their proposals to President Eisenhower here tomorrow.

In addition to Thornton, governors who accepted invitations to attend included Francis Cherry, Arkansas; Edward F. Arn, Kansas; Lawrence Weatherly, Kentucky; Hugh White, Mississippi; Phil Donnelly, Missouri; Charles H. Russell, Nevada; Edwin L. McChesney, New Mexico; Johnston Murray, Oklahoma; Frank G. Clements, Tennessee; Allan Shivers, Texas.

Gov. John Battle of Virginia, a Democrat who arrived last night, said:

"A lot of money has been appropriated and I want to see how the administration is going to use it."

He apparently referred to an additional ten million dollars recently appropriated to alleviate a hay shortage.

"The administration has not indicated how the funds will be spent and how the machinery for obtaining hay from other parts of the country will be set up. Presumably that is why this conference is being held."

Riots Threat Anew in 'Hot' Trieste

TRIESTE (INS) — Rioting threatened to break out anew in the streets of troubled Trieste today as the battle over the disputed city continued in the diplomatic council chambers of Europe.

Allied troops remained on the alert after clashes between rival factions in the streets of Trieste. Italian, Slovene and independence enthusiasts converged on Carlini di Square in the heart of the city last night despite an Allied ban on demonstrations.

By the time police broke up the melee several persons had been injured and three were under arrest.

A short time later a mob of Italian youths smashed the way into the Yugoslavian trade delegation office, shattered windows, broke furniture and dumped files into the streets.

The Yugoslavian News Agency Tanjug said the trade delegation asked Allied authorities today to post a guard at the office in Trieste to prevent a repetition of yesterday's attack.

Eisenhower Makin Hay Politically

DEFIANCE, Ohio — President Eisenhower began a political hay-making tour of the Midwest with a brief appearance today at a cornerstone laying ceremony at Defiance College.

He is stopping here to call on his old friend, Kevin McCann, president of the college, but from here on out, his trip is strictly business. His five-state swing comes at a time when his stock with the farmers is in danger. Some are fretting about administration agricultural policies.

Some 60,000 persons were expected to swell this northwestern Ohio college town (population 12,000) to greet the President on the first stop of his six-day trip.

He was scheduled to lay the cornerstone of the building which will become the Anthony Wayne Library of Early American Studies. The visit was a request of McCann, author of an Eisenhower biography and a great help to the President in the preparation of his book "Crusade in Europe."

Cities Seek Rehearing on Bell Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The City Attorney's Steering Committee will file a motion for rehearing of the Public Service Commission's order allowing a $2,550,000 rate hike for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Little Rock City Attorney D. Longstreth, committee chairman, said today this would be the first step toward appealing the rate book to the Arkansas Supreme Court. The motion for rehearing will be filed with the PSC today or tomorrow, Longstreth said.

Longstreth said the motion, by the Steering Committee, which fought Southwestern Bell's proposed rate increase, will be based on four points of error. The city attorney said the principal contention is that the PSC accepted Bell's operating figures without requiring proof.

The company earlier this week filed a proposed rate schedule representing a yearly boost of $2,549,000 in Arkansas telephone bills. The rate schedule must be approved by the PSC before becoming effective.

The PSC set Oct. 25 for a public hearing on the proposed rate schedule.

MAGNOLIA, Miss. — The way was clearing today for transfer of the Jackson, Miss., club in the Class C Cotton States League to Magnolia.

Baskin reported that $12,000 already had been raised for construction of the ball park and that another $12,000 is being sought.

life will hold no meaning unless he marries the prettiest girl in town and makes a million dollars. Suppose he does. He must leave an middle age to face the dismaying truth that beauty wanes, and so has the value of a million bucks today.

Or suppose he doesn't have the million bucks in the till until he is 45, and then goes ahead and weds the most beautiful girl in town. An ambition he should have shed. The prospect is he may have to spend most of the million bucks trying to please the girl, and end up minus both girl and money.

Subtly and unconsciously, the ambitions of most people change of their own accord as they grow older. When young, they fret about things they want to get and don't have, such as fame, fortune and a more glamorous address. In middle age they worry more about what they have got and don't want — ulcers, gallstones, fallen arches, or maybe a wayward child.

The final ambition of many old people, of course, is simply the desire to endure and survive. They derive even a wistful satisfaction on reading the obituary of a life-long acquaintance, merely because they have outlived him.

But middle age is the proper period to check over your list of unsatisfied ambitions, and deliberately weed out the ones that really are more of a nuisance than they are a help. You may be surprised to find that actually our biggest ambitions no longer are to do something you never did get to do, but to be able to do some of the things you used to and no longer can.

I have just finished overhauling my own ambitions and have reduced them to three:

1. To learn to sew on a button, and thus become fully emancipated from woman-kind at last.
 2. To look at a long flight of stairs, and feel mind you, just no intention of doing it — just feel again like running up them two steps at a time.
 3. To comb my hair and catch the comb in a stubborn tangle. I haven't had this feeling for 15 years, and I suppose I never will unless I buy a toupee.
- What do you have left on your secret list of ambitions?

are going to be "geared to more realistic production."

In his prepared text, Benson made no reference to the possible political effects of the drop in farm prices, which began more than a year ago. Tuesday's upset Democratic victory in a special House election in Wisconsin has been attributed, in part, to dissatisfaction with Eisenhower administration farm policy.

The secretary said the most pressing problem concerns falling farm prices and income, a decline in foreign markets and excess stocks of some farm products.

The government during the past year has bought heavily in wheat, corn, dairy products and some other commodities in an effort to keep prices up under support programs.

The secretary did not spell out what he intended to do about the excess stocks, but he said surpluses "are not likely to be continuing problems that will plague you in your operations a few years from now."

"We shall not continue to freeze production in uneconomic patterns," Benson said. "Our programs will provide proper incentives for agriculture to adjust output of specific commodities according to demand."

A major decline in foreign markets during the past year, the secretary said, is largely responsible for the present big stocks of wheat and cotton.

Scientist

bie" as a "very necessary witness."

CHICAGO (UP) — The Chicago Tribune said in a copyrighted story today that a scientist who escaped from the Russian zone of Germany has revealed United States radar secrets are being funneled to Russian by an espionage pipeline.

The Tribune did not reveal the scientist's name, but said he slipped from behind the Iron Curtain in June, 1952 and revealed the spy network to an air force technical intelligence officer.

The Tribune story, signed by William Edwards, said this officer's secret report had been given to the Senate sub-committee headed by Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) by the Tribune for investigation.

The report is the basis of Sen. McCarthy's current investigation into security leaks at Fort Monmouth, N. J. the Tribune said.

The Tribune told the following story of the scientist's escape and disclosures:

The scientist, who had been forced to work in an East German electronics laboratory, escaped by night to the American zone.

While being interrogated, he remarked casually:

"Of course, we had many micro-filmed copies of documents from the Evans laboratory."

The interrogating officer was startled because the Evans laboratory is the top secret research center of the army signal corps at Fort Monmouth.

The scientist went on to describe micro-filmed copies of documents he said he saw in Russian hands. He gave identifying numbers and

Woodworkers Strike at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, AP — CIO woodworkers, seeking a blanket 25 cent hourly pay raise, struck the Little Rock Furniture Manufacturing Co. here yesterday.

J. Walter McDowell, firm general manager, said the strike had virtually halted production but declined to comment further on the dispute.

Smith said the workers had been without a contract since February, when an agreement with the CIO International Woodworkers of America expired.

He said the employees had voted to re-organize under the UFWA. The present wage scale ranges from 75 cents to $1.35 hourly, Smith said.

descriptions, convincing officers that American defense secrets were being channeled to the Russians.

"The Russians said that they could get anything they wanted out of Fort Monmouth," the Tribune quoted the scientist as saying.

The Tribune said the report on the scientist's revelations was labeled "secret" and sent to Washington in July, 1952.

However, the Tribune said, the vital information about the espionage leaks was buried in the report.

The Tribune said Maj. Gen. Kirk B. Layton, commander at Fort Monmouth, did not hear of the report until Sen. McCarthy told him of it yesterday.

The newspaper quoted McCarthy as saying "why the report was held up in the Pentagon and not given to the commanding officer most interested is a question to which we want an answer."

Rockefeller to Settle for $5 Million

CHICAGO, AP — A divorce settlement, with more than $5 million dollars involved, reportedly has been agreed upon between Barbara (Becky) Rockefeller and her estranged husband, Winthrop Rockefeller.

A Chicago attorney in close touch with the case last night reported the settlement, which is said to be the largest on record. There was no comment from Rockefeller or Mrs. Rockefeller.

The Chicago attorney, who asked that his name not be used, said Barbara, 36-year-old daughter of a Pennsylvania coal miner, is to receive two million dollars in cash or securities plus a one billion dollar trust fund guaranteeing her an income of $20,000 a year for life.

The attorney said she also is to receive $70,000 a year in alimony from Rockefeller, payable until her remarriage or until Rockefeller's death.

In addition, two trust funds totaling 2 1/2 million dollars are to be set up for their son, Winthrop. The son is to remain in the mother's custody but the father will have visiting rights. Rockefeller also has agreed to pay all attorneys fee and costs in connection with the divorce.

The opinion was requested by Lepanto City Attorney John S. Mosby, who said the Lepanto mayor had resigned.

Republicans Honor Ike on His Birthday

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, (UPI) — President Eisenhower was 63 years old today, and bearing up well under the glittering burden of the most star-studded birthday celebration in generations.

He scheduled a full day in his office, including appointments with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the British ambassador, before starting out late tonight on a five-state speaking tour that will take him from Ohio to the Mexican border.

There was little inclination at the White House to hold a birthday celebration of any size today after the extravaganza Republicans staged last night at Hershey, Pa.

There was nothing in recent American history like the Hershey party for size, glitter and theatrical production. It had everything from a massed chorus of 1,800 voices chanting "I Like Ike" to golf pros chipping sponge rubber practice balls into the President's lap.

There were birthday cakes by the hundred, including one (wooden) seven feet tall. At one point, the President received a fiery salute from 7,000 persons, each equipped with a small wooden birthday cake and a lighted red candle.

And, to top off a long evening, there was an historical pageant set to music which was interrupted by laughter and applause when Paul Revere on horseback rode around an arena ring, followed quite seriously by a man in colonial military costume and bearing a shovel.

An estimated 20,000 to 25,000 persons participated in the celebration which included three parties—an outdoor box supper in a stadium, a $100-a-plate roast beef dinner in a circus tent and a three-hour show in the Hershey arena.

High spot of the evening for Mr. Eisenhower was formal notification of the creation of the Eisenhower exchange fellowships by friends across the country to promote better international understanding. This was his big birthday gift.

Grand Jury to Hear Kidnap Charges

By CHARLES NETHAWAY
KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP) The federal government said today a grand jury would be called for the week of Oct. 25 to consider evidence in the case of kidnap-killers Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Healy.

Judge Richard M. Duncan made the announcement through U. S. Dist. Atty. Edward R. Scheufler. The district attorney said the delay was necessary by reason of having to draw the jury from 65 western Missouri counties.

Scheufler said he was still receiving information from investigators. Federal agents held hope that the confessed kidnap-slayers would lead them to the hiding place of $200,000 ransom money missing in the record $500,000 payment in the Bobby Greenlease case.

Scheufler showed no indication of abandoning the government's "go slow" policy in preparing to prosecute the pair under provisions of the Lindbergh Kidnap Law.

Hall and the Healy woman showed no remorse in their separate cells in Jackson County's skyscraper jail.

Days of searching failed to produce any trace of the $200,000 which had vanished by the time Hall and his hard-drinking woman accomplice were arrested in St. Louis Oct. 6. Neither could give a coherent story of the disposal of the money.

Only yesterday Hall told a deputy U. S. marshal he believed Mrs. Healy knew where the money was. Hall said he thought Mrs. Healy hid the $200,000 while she was drunk and had forgot the location.

Mrs. Healy has been described as a "chronic alcoholic" by her attorney, who claims she didn't realize what she was doing when she teamed up with Hall to stage the brutal kidnaping and murder.

In St. Joseph, Mo., where the six-year-old boy's body was recovered from a shallow grave at the rear of Mrs. Healy's house Oct. 7, William Rosenthal said he would continue to represent the woman as her counsel.

"I expect to talk to her today or tomorrow," he said. Hall does not have counsel. Rosenthal said it was Mrs. Healy's privilege to continue to talk to investigators, though she has been charged.

"I can advise her not to talk," Rosenthal said, "but I can't keep her from talking."

The plump red-haired woman, who posed as Bobby Greenlease's aunt to abduct him from his school Sept. 28, had shed little light on the whereabouts of the money. She said she got drunk every day in the morning after the kidnaping. It was learned yesterday Mrs. Healy had confided in a cellmate at St. Louis that her lawyer raised the possibility she could get off with a 25 year sentence and be eligible for parole in seven years.

That $200,000 wouldn't have been too bad for only seven years," she said cryptically. She apparently had regarded $200,000 as her share of the kidnap loot.

Meanwhile Robert Lederman of Tulsa, Okla., a business associate of the kidnap victim's father, suggested that the secret of the missing money might follow Hall, al-

Abandonment of Rail Line Studied

BATON ROUGE, La., (AP) — A request to discontinue motor train service between Little Rock, Ark., and Winfield, La., will be discussed here Monday by the Arkansas and Louisiana Public Service Commissions.

Some months ago the commissions met at Ruston and asked for additional information from the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co., which has asked to discontinue their two-car "doodle-but" trains.

The trains serve Winfield, Jonesboro, Ruston and Junction City in Louisiana and El Dorado and Little Rock, Ark.

"I predict Hall probably will remember where the rest of it is when he's about to meet his maker," Lederman said.

Lederman disclosed that 16 persons had made ransom demands on Robert Greenlease, Sr., wealthy Kansas City auto dealer, after his son was kidnaped. The demands totaled $1,250,000, ranging from $5,000 to the $500,000 finally paid to the actual kidnapers.

Federal officials refused to say what action might be taken against the phony ransom callers.

Feeling was running high in Kansas City against the kidnapers, especially after Mrs. Healy disclosed in a conversation with her cellmate that Hall had beaten Bobby with a pistol shot in the head.

Scheufler said he probably would ask a federal grand jury to indict Hall and Mrs. Healy. The grand jury is now in recess, and Scheufler indicated it might be two weeks before the jury could be recalled and the indictments returned.

Council Needs Encounters Difficulties

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The military's first rough guess about what will be needed in way of men, ammunition and money for next year appeared today to have encountered a different response from the top-level National Security Council.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and a score of his chief uniformed and civilian advisers went to the security council meeting yesterday with unanimous but preliminary recommendations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff on force levels and probable commitments for the year beginning July 1.

President Eisenhower presided at the meeting, which was long.

Back at the Pentagon in the afternoon, Wilson held his weekly news conference. A few weeks ago he had hinted about the possibility of clipping a couple of billion dollars off military spending next fiscal year.

But, fresh back from the security council meeting, he talked cautiously about it being "too early" to guess the size of next year's outlay.

SWC Coaches Not Satisfied With Progress

DALLAS, Oct. 14. — Coach Les Neely told his Rice Owls yesterday they have to improve quickly, or they will be whipped by SMU Saturday night in Dallas. He is unsatisfied with scrimmages this week.

Neely showed his recent progress by scheduling another scrimmage today and held out threat of a scrimmage tomorrow. "If we don't look better," Neely said, "we don't deserve to win."

Undeclared Rice leaves for Dallas Saturday morning. Picked as a pre-season conference favorite by more than one expert, the Owls will get their first test in league play from the Mustangs.

On the other end of the line the optimistic Methodists held what Coach Woody Woodward called "the best workout of the season." The team, ranked first in the nation on defense, worked on defense.

In a second conference game with meaning, the inebriated Texas Aggies put their record on the line against up-and-down TCU. In the A&M camp there was bad news. Buckles Jim Boring and Charlie Hall will not play Saturday. Neither boy has recovered from early season injury.

The Aggies went through an offensive scrimmage against the "B" team.

In Fort Worth TCU Coach Abe Martin was worried over a let-down after his Frogs scored Michigan State last Saturday. Martin said he hopes his boys will come around by Saturday. "Some of them are still sore enough," he said.

"They weren't too sore for contact, however. The Frogs went at it lightly with an offensive scrimmage and finished up full tilt with a defense scrimmage. New defenses were installed and Martin was pleased with results."

Texas Coach Ed Price was going with his "young" backfield and he held what he saw yesterday. Said Price, "the boys looked very good, considering it was their first work together."

Price, after the whipping by Oklahoma last Saturday, shook up his backfield.

The Longhorns meet Arkansas this week. The surprising Razorback squad, inspired but thin, through the ranks, omitted contact work. Four squadmen are on the doubtful list. Coach Bowden Wyatt worked his team only on pass defense and offense.

Baylor, worried about Vanderbilt's split and anxious to protect "additional" ranking — No. 7.

Baseball Issue to Get High Court Ruling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. — A prime question before the Supreme Court today is: Has baseball in the past 30 years become involved in interstate commerce within the meaning of the anti-trust laws?

If the court says yes, organized baseball will go on generally making its own rules as it has since the days of Abner Doubleday.

If the court says yes, baseball is interstate commerce, three cases, appealed to it will be ordered to trial in Federal District Courts.

The Supreme Court took the matter under advisement yesterday after two days of hearings. A decision is not likely before spring.

Judging by the manner in which the case unfolded before the justices, the big bone of contention is the role of radio and television in baseball.

In 1922, the Supreme Court ruled that baseball is a sport, not a business, within the meaning of the anti-trust laws. It thus put baseball outside the province of federal anti-trust jurisdiction.

Attorneys for two minor league players and a minor league club-owner contended that television had made organized baseball a commercial enterprise.

Baseball attorneys said this is not true. They emphasized that accounts of ball games were transmitted in 1922 by Western Union. "There is no difference," said Attorney Raymond T. Jackson, "between the rights issued by club-owners to the Western Union people then and the radio and television people now."

Attorney Frederic A. Johnson, representing minor league player Walter Kowalski, contended there is "immense" difference. Western Union never paid more than about $50,000 for those rights, he said, while TV people paid 75 million dollars this year.

Jackson replied: "Baseball clubs do not sell any advertising nor do they do any advertising for anybody. They merely sell the radio and television rights."

Johnson said baseball has the means of controlling an advertising audience "which I imagine has never been held before since the worked on defense with most of the rough work out of the way. Coach George Sauer said his squad would review defensive assignments and practice punt and kick-off returns the rest of the week.

Cherry Asked to Commute Sentence

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 14. — Gov. Cherry has been asked to commute an 18-month sentence against a former 1952 of fatally shooting Bunyan Wigley while attempting to arrest him for drunkenness, eligible for release. The State Board of Pardons and Immediate Release. He began serving his sentence June 11.

contract terms, or keep him under contract as long as it wishes.

The court is not likely to rule specifically on the reserve clause, since that is not the question it is asked to decide.

But if it declares baseball is interstate commerce, it would place the question of the reserve clause before the District Courts. Chances are that any decision there would be appealed back to the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Warren asked Jackson at one point whether major league club agreements on radio and television rights singled out baseball to many spheres they prohibited radio and television broadcast of their games.

Jackson said the clubs have the right to say where they want their games broadcast. He added, "This is not in any sense a prohibition."

The basic point of attack in the three appeals was that men were damaged because of provisions in player contracts allegedly violating the anti-trust laws.

Singled out particularly was the reserve clause in player contracts which binds a player to the club with which he signs. The club may sell the player's contract and hence his services, blacklist the player if he does not live up to the

Visiting Around Arkansas BY JOE MARSH

"Moon of the Painted Leaves"

The Ozark Folk Festival, held each fall during the "Moon of the Painted Leaves" is a tribute to Arkansas folk culture. This year the 6th annual Ozark Folk Festival is being held Oct. 15, 16 and 17 in Eureka Springs, that wonderful old hill town, sometimes called the Switzerland of America.

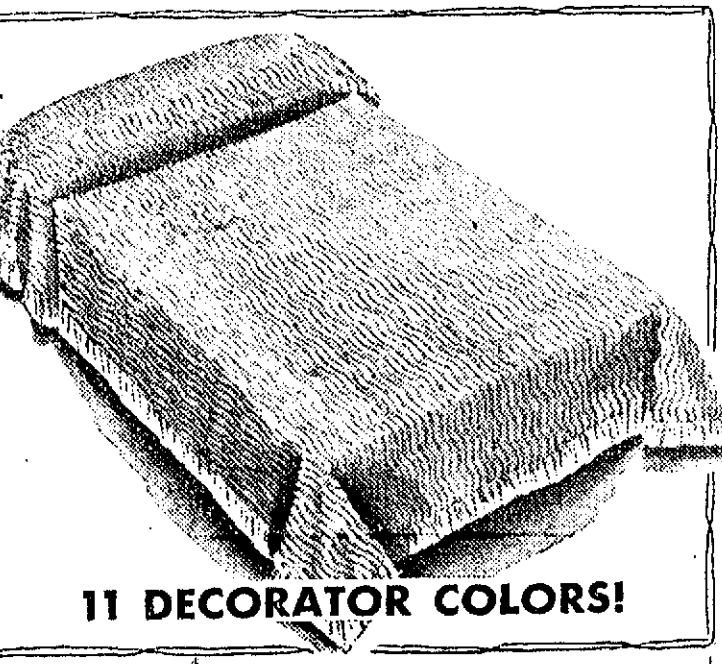

But the celebration is strictly American and Arkansas. Sometimes called the "Flaming Fall Revue" the festival will feature ballad singing, fiddling, banjo picking, quartet singing and square dancing—all a part of our way of life—good clean entertainment...fun for all. You can bet I'll be on hand to see the Ozarks in their full, fall beauty and its people keep alive the fine old traditions of fun and neighborliness. Maintaining fine old customs is traditional in the Ozarks; just like maintaining the fine quality of its beverages is traditional with the brewers of America. They produce fine beer and ale, made from recipes which have been handed down and improved through the years. And that's not all, though their self-regulation program that their products are sold in clean, wholesome establishments.

Cease-Fire in Korea Only '53 Progress

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The year 1953 is now 9½ months old. What have those months brought the world in the way of peace? Only one tangible thing: The cease-fire in Korea.

But there is no certainty that even a Korean peace conference can be held—much less a typical of the uncertainty about peace in general—so great is the division between East and West.

There has been much talk of peace, of course, in both East and West. The diplomats have made proposals and maneuvers. So far, nothing. But the year was not without at least one surprise, hope, shock, and shift in mood.

The surprise: Stalin's death, March 6. The hope: That his successor, Malenkov, might change policy, seek peace. The shock: Russia's revelation of its progress in making a hydrogen bomb. The shift in mood: A greater sense of urgency in the West in finding peaceful solutions before hydrogen war began.

When Malenkov took over, the world held its breath. Peace with stubborn Stalin had been impossible. He stood like stone against the West, apparently incapable of change. Would Malenkov be different?

Malenkov seemed to hint he might be in a speech March 15. "There is no dispute... that cannot be settled peacefully..." By mid-October it was hard to see where he differed from Stalin.

President Eisenhower's attitude toward Malenkov from the start was "Show me." In an April 16 speech he told the Russians to demonstrate by deeds, not just words, that they meant peace.

As an example he cited the No. 1 European problem, divided Germany, which this country wants to see united. Russia controls the Eastern zone. West Germany not only is pro-West but is getting ready to join West Europe's army.

Before long, in June and September, the Russians were to suffer humiliating setbacks in both parts of Germany. In June East Germans rioted, showing how they felt toward their Communist masters.

On Sept. 6 West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, pro-West and anti-Russian and great foe of the Communist East, won an overwhelming re-election despite Communist attempts to torpedo him.

If the Russians ever had any notion of letting East Germany slip from their grasp, these two demonstrations of how Germans, East and West, felt toward Moscow probably hardened them into keeping Germany split.

In July the foreign ministers of Britain and France journeyed to Washington to confer with Secretary of State Dulles on problems involving the Communists.

Out of this meeting came a proposal to Moscow: Let Germany be reunited, let the Germans have free elections, plus other steps. Notes were exchanged with Moscow, long notes, with long delays between replies. The result by mid-October: Nothing.

Tonight Dulles travels to London to meet with the British and French foreign ministers. The State Department said it is not an emergency meeting. London said it was called hurriedly.

The three foreign ministers certainly are meeting now with a greater sense of urgency than they had in July, for more than one thing has happened between July and mid-October.

The West, which had a monopoly on the hydrogen bomb, suffered a shock. On Aug. 9, Malenkov said the monopoly was over. On Aug. 19 the Russians announced a hydrogen explosion, confirmed by this government, years before some American experts thought possible.

And within the past week Trieste became a danger spot when Yugoslavia's Tito threatened to attack any Italian troops permitted to enter the zone of Trieste now occupied by American and British troops. Yugoslavia occupies the other zone.

And Russia, from which Yugoslavia split when Tito refused to kowtow under to Stalin, backed up Tito with warnings against letting the Italians have the port city of Trieste.

Since the Russian explosion Eisenhower and Dulles seem to have moved away from the rigid "show me by deeds" position of the President in April. They have talked softer recently.

But there is no certainty that even a Korean peace conference can be held—much less a typical of the uncertainty about peace in general—so great is the division between East and West.

Road Millage Ruled Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Chancery court judge has ruled that a 1953 act setting up allocation of a three mill road tax was unconstitutional. Chancellor Guy E. Williams yesterday agreed that an attorney general's opinion that the 1953 law was allocating 75 per cent of the tax to cities and 25 per cent to the county—was local legislation and therefore unconstitutional. The act was applicable to counties of 175,000 or more population, which singles out Pulaski County.

The City of Little Rock had sued for an injunction to force County Judge Arch Campbell to abide by the 1953 act.
